DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-4, 21-22, and 28-36, drawn to the grip of an integrated putter system, classified in class 473, subclass 300 and 549.
 - II. Claims 1, 5-14, and 37-49, drawn to the shaft of an integrated putter system, classified in class 473, subclass 305, 313, and 316.
 - III. Claims 1, 15-17, 19, and 50-62, drawn to the head of a putter with an eye collimating device and weighting system, classified in class 473, subclass 314, 334-337, and 341.
 - IV. Claims 1, 18, 20, and 23-27, drawn to an integrated putter system, classified in class 473.
 - V. Claims 63-65, drawn to method of manufacturing a putter, classified in class 473.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as the grip of the putter is distinct invention from the shaft but are useable together in an integrated putter system. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

3. Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as the shaft of the putter is distinct invention from the head of a putter but are useable together in an integrated putter system. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

4. Inventions III and IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the putter system with a head does not require a grip for patentability. The subcombination has separate utility such as the head provides a weighting system for balancing the putter head but not necessarily for the grip.

5. Inventions IV and V are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process

(MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the process of making putter head components can be done by metal casting other than injection or compression molding.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Group III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group III is not required for Group IV, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group IV is not required for Group V, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to Mr. Oleg F. Kaplun on August 12, 2003 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
